Interim Review Report

To the Audit Committee of SYMC Resources Limited

We have reviewed the balance sheet of SYMC Resources Limited as at June 30, 2005, the statements of income, deficit and cash flows for the three month and six month periods then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management.

We performed our review in accordance with Canadian generally accepted standards for a review of interim financial statements by a Company's auditor. Such an interim review consists principally of applying analytical procedures to financial data, and making enquiries of, and having discussions with, persons responsible for financial and accounting matters. An interim review is substantially less in scope than an audit, whose objective is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements; accordingly, we do not express such an opinion. An interim review does not provide assurance that we would become aware of any or all significant matters that might be identified in an audit.

Based on our review, we are not aware of any material modification that needs to be made for these interim financial statements to be in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.

This report is solely for the use of the audit committee of SYMC Resources Limited to assist it in discharging its obligation to review these financial statements, and should not be used for any other purpose. Any use that a third party makes of this report, or any reliance or decisions made based on it, are the responsibility of such third parties. We accept no responsibility for loss or damages, if any, suffered by any third party as a result of decisions made or actions taken based on this report.

SYMC Resources Limited

Notes to the Financial Statements

For the Three Months and Six Months Ended June 30, 2005 and 2004

(unaudited)

1. Nature of Operations and Continuance of Business

The Company was incorporated on March 26, 1987 under the provisions of the Company Act of British Columbia.

The Company is in the business of acquiring and exploring mineral properties on Vancouver Island, B.C. There has been no determination whether properties held contain ore reserves, which are economically recoverable.

The recoverability of valuations assigned to mineral properties is dependent upon the discovery of economically recoverable reserves, confirmation of the Company's interest in the properties, the ability to obtain necessary financing to complete development, and future profitable production or proceeds from disposition.

These financial statements have been prepared on the basis of accounting principles applicable to a going concern and accordingly, do not purport to give effect to adjustments, if any, which may be appropriate should the Company be unable to continue as a going concern entity.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

[a] Basis of presentation

The financial statements of the Company are prepared in accordance with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles.

[b] Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with Canadian generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets, particularly the recoverability of accounts receivable, capital assets and goodwill, and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from the estimates.

[c] Cash and cash equivalents

The Company considers all highly liquid instruments with a maturity of three months or less at the time of issuance to be cash equivalents.

[d] Mineral properties

All costs related to the acquisition, exploration and development of mineral properties are capitalized. Upon commencement of commercial production, the related accumulated costs are amortized against future income of the project using the unit of production method over estimated recoverable ore reserves. Management periodically assesses carrying values of non-producing properties and if management determines that the carrying values cannot be recovered or the carrying values are related to properties that are allowed to lapse, the unrecoverable amounts are expensed.

The recoverability of the carried amounts of mineral properties is dependent on the existence of economically recoverable ore reserves and the ability to obtain the necessary financing to complete the development of such ore reserves and the success of future operations. The Company has not yet determined whether any of its mineral properties contains economically recoverable reserves. Amounts capitalized as mineral properties represent costs incurred to date, less write-downs and recoveries, and does not necessarily reflect present or future values.

When options are granted on mineral properties or properties are sold, proceeds are credited to the cost of the property. If no future capital expenditure is required and proceeds exceed costs, the excess proceeds are reported as a gain.

Notes to the Financial Statements

For the Three Months and Six Months Ended June 30, 2005 and 2004

(unaudited)

[e] Long-lived assets

The Company monitors the recoverability of long-lived assets, based on factors such as current market value, future asset utilization, business climate and future undiscounted cash flows expected to result from the use of the related assets. The Company's policy is to record an impairment loss in the period when it is determined that the carrying amount of the assets may not be recoverable. The impairment loss is calculated as the amount by which the carrying amount of the assets exceeds the undiscounted estimate of future cash flows from the asset.

[f] Financial instruments

Financial instruments included in the balance sheet are comprised of cash and cash equivalents, amounts receivable, and accounts payable and accrued liabilities. The fair values of these balance sheet items are equivalent to their carrying value because of the short-term maturity of those instruments. The Company is not party to any derivative instruments.

The Company has no interest rate risk or concentrations of credit risk.

[g] Income taxes

The Company follows the asset and liability method of accounting for income taxes. Future income tax assets and liabilities are determined based on temporary differences between the accounting and tax bases of existing assets and liabilities, and are measured using the tax rates expected to apply when these differences reverse. A valuation allowance is recorded against any future tax asset if it is more likely than not that the asset will not be realized.

[h] Flow-through Shares

The Company has adopted EIC-146, which is effective for all flow-through share transactions initiated after March 19, 2004. Canadian tax legislation permits a company to issue securities referred to as flow-through shares whereby the investor may claim the tax deductions arising from the related resource expenditures. When resource expenditures are renounced to the investors and the Company has reasonable assurance that the expenditures will be completed, a future income tax liability is recognized and the shareholders' equity is reduced.

If the Company has sufficient unused tax loss carryforwards to offset all or part of this future income tax liability and no future income tax assets have been previously recognized for these carryforwards, a portion of such unrecognized losses is recorded as income up to the amount of the future income tax liability that was previously recognized on the renounced expenditures.

[i] Stock-based compensation plans

The Company recognizes stock-based compensation expense in accordance with CICA Handbook Section 3870 "Stock-based Compensation and Other Stock-based Payments" ("CICA 3870"). When stock or stock options are issued to non-employees, compensation expense is recognized based on the fair value of the stock or stock options issued. During 2003, the Company changed its accounting policy related to employee stock options, and began to recognize compensation expense for stock or stock option grants to employees, based on the fair value of the stock or stock options issued. Pursuant to the provisions of CICA 3870, the Company has accounted prospectively for stock options issued or modified after January 1, 2003.

[j] Loss per share

Basic loss per share is computed using the weighted average number of common shares outstanding during the year. The treasury stock method is used for the calculation of diluted loss per share. Stock options and warrants are dilutive when the average market price of the common shares during the period exceeds the exercise price of the options and warrants.

As the Company has recorded a loss in each of the periods presented, basic and diluted loss per share are the same since the exercise of warrants or options would reduce the loss per share.

[k] Comparative figures

Certain of the prior period's figures have been reclassified to conform with the current period's presentation.

[l] Interim Financial Statements

These interim unaudited financial statements have been prepared on the same basis as the annual financial statements and in the opinion of management, reflect all adjustments, which include only normal recurring adjustments, necessary to present fairly the Company's financial position, results of operations and cash flows for the periods shown. The results of operations for such periods are not necessarily indicative of the results expected for a full year or for any future period.
